DARMANN UNIVERSITY

February 3, 2015– Darman has established an in house, educational venture that we are calling Darman University, or “Darman U”. This initiative will focus on education for employees to expand their knowledge on a variety of practical subjects. Focus will be on applied subjects including problem solving, abrasives, customer applications, basic finance and software training

“As an ESOP company we are committed to our employees. We believe that these practical in-house training opportunities will allow our team members to acquire new skills that will be valuable both at Darman and in life” Peter Johnson, President and CEO

Darman Abrasive Products, Inc. designs, manufactures and markets fine grit, bonded abrasive products for superfinishing, precision grinding, honing and dressing applications. We provide superior engineered, customized products and responsive customer support.
